

The Architect's Guide to Attractive Air-conditioning

The Architect's Dilemma
Unattractive air-conditioning can disrupt sleek architectural designs and together with poor site coordination can lead to client dissatisfaction.

With over 50 years' experience in high-end residential and commercial projects, Homeaire understands how to solve them.

On a recent project, we helped Koop Designs integrate air-conditioning with minimal visual impact, preserving their design intent while ensuring full service access.

Why Standard Solutions Fail

- Generic, standard air-conditioning solutions that ignore your creative vision.
- Poor on-site coordination and missed deadlines leading to frustration.
- Last-minute design changes and poor workmanship that compromise the build.
- Lack of long-term client support leaving them stranded.

The result? Compromised design, site delays, and reputation risk.

What Architects Really Want

- Discreet, aesthetic custom solutions that blend in with their design.
- Early project collaboration for seamless integration on site.
- Precise on-site execution for flawless installations that meet project deadlines.
- Reliable aftercare and client satisfaction for long-term performance.

The Architect's Trusted Air-Conditioning Partner

Homeaire delivers custom air-conditioning solutions that blend modern design with quiet performance that performs well beyond handover.

- Energy-efficient solutions with premium units, sleek finishes and custom concealment.
- Early design input, CAD planning with colour-coded options.
- Skilled on-site execution and seamless trade coordination.
- Mechanical Engineer sign-off at a reduced fee.
- Dedicated aftercare with 12 mobile service teams, 1-year comprehensive warranty and proactive maintenance.

Founded in 1969, Homeaire is the only air-conditioning company offering:

1. Free CAD layout design drawing.
2. 50% off the first service for your clients.

Let's Talk About Your Next Project

Schedule your free consultation for early-stage design input and expert advice on achieving elegant, integrated air-conditioning without sacrificing aesthetics.

Contact us

WhatsApp Craig Chrystal for a consultation
+27(0)82 883 1616 or email craig@homeaire.co.za
homeaire.co.za | 031 579 4444

A breath of fresh air